Griffmen Obtain Even Break with

Boston by Taking Final Game. Boston, June 27.-Chalk up another victory for Clark Griffith's Senators. The Senators this afternoon overcame a three-run lead of the champs and managed to push across the winning run in the eleventh inning. The final score was 7 to 6 in favor of the Griffiths. The victory today gives Griff's men a split in the series with the Sox each team having won three games.

The game today was one of the kind in which every play known to base-ball was pulled off. Both teams play-ed brilliant ball at times, and ther gain they-well, what's the use. Ar again they—well, what's the use. An idea of the game put up by both teams can be gleaned from the fact that five double plays were pulled off, three of them being executed by the champs and the other two by the Senators.

Two of the double plays were executed by Lewis and Rice. Lewis pulled his play in the second inning on the speedy Leonard after catching a fly from off the bat of Henry in deep center. Lewis has made several wonderful throws in the past, but it is doubtful if he ever made a better throw than he did today.

Harry Hooper also contributed a spectacular play when he threw Shanks out at third in an attempt to stretch his double to right into a

Barry, Henry and Shore. Barry gave the Senators a run when he fumbled Milan's tap with men on second and l. Prof. Shore cut loose with a heave in the ninth that allowed the Senators to score two runs, and Henry's throw to center in the sixth gave the Sox an opportunity to score.

During the course of the game Griff introduced a new one to Boston fans when he sent Murray to cover sec end. The latter is a former Brown University infielder. Prof. Shore, who last week samped into the Hall of Fame by pitching a perfect game at the expense of the Nationals, was on the mound for the Champs today. What the Nationals falled to do last Saturday they did today, and that is hit him. They banged his offerings to all corners of the field, and nothing but sensational fielding on the part of Hooper and Lewis kept the score down and forced the game into extra innings.

Prof. Shore cannot be blamed for losing his own game as his poor play in the ninth spilled the beans. Op-posed to Shore was Gallia. He lasted until the ninth when he was yanked out to allow Ainsmith to bat for him The latter delivered the goods in the pinch as did Jamleson, who batted for McBride in this inning.

The Nationals scored in the first, Judge showing how much contempt he had for the latest entrant into the Hall of Fame by slamming one of his offerings to center for a triple, although it is doubtful if the hit would have been good for more than a single if Walker had played the ball he had taken a relay from Menoskey.

Barry tried to take third on the error, but he delayed his start too long and Shanks tossed him out at third.

A double play in the fourth killed

Washington's chances, and then to even up matters the Senators pulled a double play at the expense of the

In the sixth the Senators shoved two runs across the platter. Gallia opened with a single to left and Judge hit one to second, but before Barry could field the ball he was sent sprawling by Gallia and Dineen called the latter out for interference. This act was costly as Shanks came through with his second double. Judge taking third. With the infield a single if walker had played the Dali right. Shanks sacrificed and Rice's infield out scored Judge. A double play, Lewis to Barry, killed the Nationals' hopes in the second after Leonard had started the inning with a single over second.

Shanks doubled in the third but was thrown out, Hooper to Barry to Gardner, trying to make it a triple. The Sox evened up matters in their half of the third after two men had been retired. Hooper worked Gallia for a pass. Manager Barry came through with a double and Hooper scored when Leonard made a poor throw to second to get Barry after he had taken a relay from Menoskey, Barry tried to take third on the error, but he delayed his start too long and Shanks tossed him out at third.

New York, June 27.—The New fork chapter of the Baseball writers' Association today placed its side of the now famous Mc-Graw case squarely up to the National League, demanding a thor-ough investigation of the origin and authenticity of statements credited to McGraw in which he attacked President John K. Tener, and which have since been re-pudiated by the Giant manager. At a special meeting of the writers it was unanimously agreed to request that the case be re-opened in a special meeting at once, to the end that the writers be heard in their own defense.

WALLOPY WALL PIPP HERO OF YANKEES

Gothamite, Cast Aside by Tigers, Manufacturer of Circuit Drives.

New York, June 27.—Wally Pipp—who would look just as well named Wallopy Pipp—is the main cog around which rolls the attack and defense of the Yankees. Pipp, clongated exponent of three-baggers and home runs, once was eligible to a position as regular on Hugh Jennings' famous Tigers, but Hughie couldn't see it that way, so he is now making the Tigers, but Hughie couldn't see it that way, so he is now making the boards rattle as a member of Wild William Donovan's obstreperous gang. Pipp had a hard time convincing the fans this year that they hadn't gone a little too far and somewhat too soon when they acclaimed him a demon sticker. He started very, very tardily, but along about the time the White Sox ambled into New York to teach the Yankees baseball Wally and his bat got busy. The net result of his efforts was two defeats for the White Sox, and when the Browns took up the burden where Rowland's stars left off he won two games single-handed from the Fielder Jones entry. Two home runs clanged off his bat at opportune moments on successive days.

Pipp is a sort of blushing genius.

He is no prouder of his hits, including the home runs, than Ed. Walsh used to be of his spithall. This is no prouder of a thing than the United States is of its navy. However, right there his applause ends, and, in spite of it, not because of it, he is one of the best fielders the American League holds.

League holds.

For instance, Roger Peckinpaugh is accredited one of the best fielders in the American League—a man who fields and throws consistently day fields and throws consistently day in and out. As a matter of fact, Roger is just as likely to aim at the upper tier of boxes in right field as at first base, and that's where Pipp begins to work for the benefit of the home boys' average. He is able to stretch almost anywhere in shooting distance of first base and scoop 'em up. He does it constantly. Peckinpaugh's errors are turned into good throws by Pipp. Likewise he scoops throws by Pipp. Likewise he scoops the bad ones up for the rest of the rowd. Frank Baker is a valuable ballplaye and Slim Caldwell is a whale of a pitcher, but just what would happen to the Yankees without Wallopy Pipp is something for the puzzle makers
